

NOW HIRING

Green Seal, Inc., an independent, nonprofit ecolabeling organization, has an opening for a full-time environmental scientist for technical support of programs in our Madison, WI, location. We are looking for someone with a bachelor's degree with relevant experience, or a master's degree, in environmental science, engineering, or related technical discipline, including some chemistry training and/or experience.

Job responsibilities would include the following:

- ✓ Review technical product information for compliance to Green Seal standards (desk audits);
- ✓ Research/address technical issues as they arise;
- ✓ Communicate with client applicants regarding review requirements and findings;
- ✓ Review product marketing materials for consistency with the FTC Environmental Marketing Guidelines and Green Seal policies;

Assignments will primarily include evaluating products as part of Green Seal's Certification program.

Minority candidates strongly encouraged to apply.

Send cover letter and resume to certification@greenseal.org, ATTN Certification Reviewer.

Accepting applications through Friday, June 9th.
